The resource person for the FDP was Mr. Sujit Sakhare. The first day of the FDP commenced with the introduction and a brief overview of the architecture of the Raspberry Pi. Complete installation process right from loading of the operating system onto the Raspberry and mapping the IPs was shown. Basics of Linux commands were introduced followed by Python programming language.

The afternoon session started with the understanding of the GPIO interface, input output programming followed by hands-on session where T-SOP sensors and LEDs were interfaced with the Raspberry Pi.

The second day was interfacing of the Motor with the Raspberry Pi. Applications like controlling the speed of the motor and reversing the direction of the motor were implemented. Applications using Ultrasonic sensors where distance could be measured was also studied and implemented. The afternoon session included a demonstration on Frequency Modulation and transmission followed by discussion and issue resolution. The faculty worked with great enthusiasm during the workshop and had their own Raspberry kits to be configured.

The FDP ended with a Valedictory programme. The feedback given by the faculty members was overwhelming. Dr. Prof. S. B. Patil, Principal of RDTC's SCSCOE College and HOD of E&TC Department appreciated the resource person Mr. Sujit Sakhare for his in-depth knowledge in the domain.
